Why do functions that used reified types have to be inline?

Generics

invariance